Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Obert discloses a method of spreading water in an evaporative cooler comprising: feeding a water stream to a water spreader arrangement 21, dividing the water into a pair of partial streams by flowing the water over a first substantially vertical projection 27a, the partial streams having a predetermine ratio of flow rates as water flow over the inclined surfaces of the vertical projection 27a (see figure 8), dividing each of the two partial streams into two further stream by flowing each of the partial stream over a pair of further projections 34', the first level of the first vertical projections 27a is a horizontal surface, and the second level of the second vertical projections 34' is also have a horizontal surface (see figure 8).

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following patents are cited to show the art with respect to a device for splitting a stream of flowed material: Lyons, Barnsdale, Hartley, and White et al.
